Morgon Grands Cras 2015

Due to be bottled in the second week of July, the 2015 Morgon Grands Cras has a complex nose of black plum, mulberry, licorice and baking powder scents that are well defined. The palate is medium-bodied with fleshy ripe black fruit but there is a serious structure, a firm backbone to this Morgon that renders it more masculine than its peers. It does not quite have the length of the Morgon Les Charmes this year, but it demonstrates impressive delineation and a wonderful saline, marine-influenced finish that lingers just long enough.
