WINERY OVERVIEW

Michael Pozzan is based in California and is highly respected in the world of wine. He has spoken about wine at University of California, Davis, and Golden Gate University in San Francisco, and was selected as a judge of the prestigious New World Wine Competition as well as the Home Wine Makers of California Competition. Michael has made the study of wine his life, traveling and tasting, and dedicating himself to producing high-quality Napa and Sonoma Valley wines in the Italian style of his heritage: wines of rich fruit, excellent character and exceptional value.

Michael's wine roots trace back to the late 1800s in Piedmont, Italy where his great grandfather first planted vines. After traveling to America in the early-mid 1900s, Michael's grandfather moved to Sonoma where he planted 35 acres of Zinfandel in 1948. Some of these original vines still exist today and can be seen at the end of Pozzan Road in Healdsburg, Sonoma County. Michael grew up spending his summers at his grandparent's vineyard and it is the foundation from which his passions spawned.

As a young adult, Michael became involved in the California wine industry working for several companies focused on imports and distribution. It wasn't until 1990 that Michael, with the loving support of his wife Mary Ann, left his sales position to follow his dream of producing his own wine. Displaying a keen pallet and a knack for blending, Michael Pozzan released his first vintage in 1991, consisting of 200 cases. Over the years, his success grew as he formed stronger relationships with winemaking peers and growers, giving him the edge in producing fine wines from the most competitive regions in the country. Now celebrating over 25 years of production, Michael is joined by his two sons, Dante and Matthew Pozzan, as the family winery looks to continue their passion of producing fine wines with balance and personality from around California.

TASTING NOTES

The nose is bright with layers of fragrant ripe lemons, mandarin oranges, and a subtle note of toasted almonds. The mouth is round is layered with rich flavors of lemon curd, cinnamon, and a hint of vanilla bean, perfectly balanced by fresh acidity and a lovely integration of delicate oak framing.
